From the Office

Dear families of Lakeview,

The staff of Lakeview are hoping you are all well, healthy, and doing your part by practicing physical distancing recommendations. It seems that our world changed almost overnight and we are all adjusting and reacting as we get news updates. We realize this can be a scary time for our students. Our on-line learning opportunities for each grade level were released on Monday March 30. Please know that the “work” that you have available for your child(ren) to do is not meant to be overwhelming. Feel free to adjust and do what works for your family at this challenging time. The most important thing anyone of us can do right now is to be there for our children. Read a story and cuddle up on the couch, or get outside and go for a walk and look for signs of spring. We all learn by doing, so whatever you’re doing is ok! Our teachers and support staff have set up various ways to be in contact so please do not be afraid to reach out and ask for support, or ask questions. We are in this together, and we can’t wait until we can actually BE TOGETHER again.

Take care,

Ms. Dawn Walmsley Dawn.ronne@lethsd.ab.ca

NEWS FROM LAKEVIEW'S LEARNING SUPPORT TEACHER Mrs. Lois Van Roon

Wow! We are missing all of our students and families, but we do love connecting with you! Online learning is such a unique opportunity and it comes with its challenges, too. You are all doing great and we are excited to see and hear about all of the learning you will do at home.

We hope that you are using the online tools on our school website. Coming soon are some links from learning support, too! Watch for this soon.

Parents, don't forget the wonderful ways you can weave numeracy into your day by having your children help with cooking (following the math in recipes), and graphing their daily activity minutes! There are tons of options for reading online available from each classroom teacher, but let's also embrace a good book and some quiet time to continue those literacy skills offline as well.

Wishing you all much health and rich learning from home! Keep in touch and reach out to us by email if we can help you in any way! We are available for meetings via phone or zoom if we can assist you with your at-home learning.

Take care Lakeview Families!

Dear Families,
Thank you very much to the students that have already written letters of appreciation to some of our valued Lethbridge community members. We hope that you are following us on Twitter @lakeviewleth and have seen some of our letters posted already. We will continue to post them on social media and our website as we receive them. Please keep these inspirational and heartwarming letters coming! Please check back regularly to read other letters written by your fellow classmates and other students in our school! We are so proud of our students for making a positive impact during such a challenging time. Remember we are always together in our hearts!
