U OF L JOIN US FOR A PEACEFUL SILENT PROTEST

Come to support your fellow students and Lethbridge community.

WHERE/WHEN ANDERSON HALL FEBRUARY 1, 2023 @3 PM

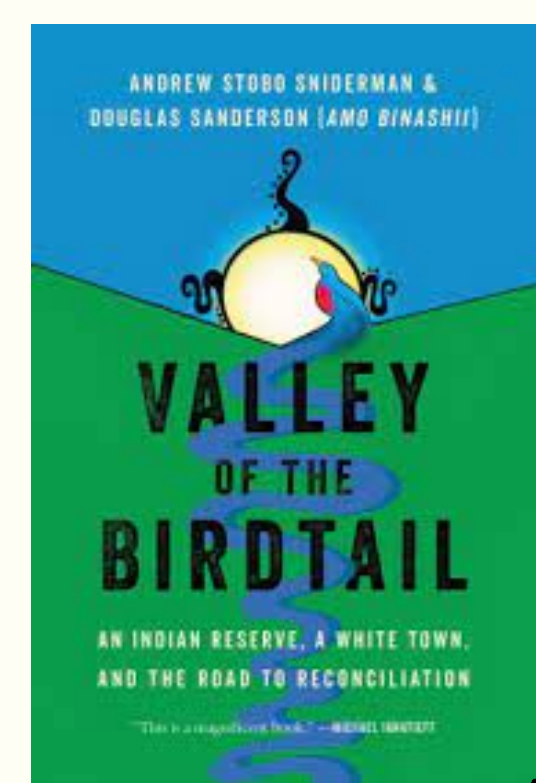

- Here to protest the promotion of hateful rhetoric and how it can harm the wellbeing of community members.
- The protest will be a peaceful and silent protest we strongly encourage protesters not to engage with the facilitators and speakers at this lecture.
- For an institution that fosters community relations with local Indigenous communities this public lecture being held on campus is counterproductive.

Student Supports
Mental Health supports are available for students who are struggling with the presents of Frances Widdowson on campus.

Indigenous Youth Cooking Program

This is a great opportunity for youth to cook many different recipes, including traditional recipes, learn from Elders, discover how nutrition is important for the mind, body, heart, and spirit and learn new skills in the kitchen.

7 sessions: Every Thursday from February 16 - March 30, 2023 4:15pm-6:15pm

Each session provides:

- A recipe and all ingredients (plus extra to take home to your family)
- Information on nutrition
- Information on kitchen and food safety

Cooking classes create connections and help bring a sense of well-being to everyone!

KITSIKAKOMIMM

I LOVE YOU

CALL FOR PARTICIPATION!

The Lethbridge School Division Indigenous Education Department would like to invite you to be a part of the Kitsikakomimm project.

Our goal is to collect donations for the SAGE Clan. The SAGE clan is a grassroots community patrol that specializes in helping the homeless and those suffering from addiction. The SAGE clan patrols at night in the Lethbridge downtown area and provides snacks, water, clothes, and a person to talk to.

High schools and middle schools collecting:

- water
- hygiene items
- socks
- gloves
- hats, etc.

Elementary schools collecting:

- valentines cards
- pictures
- inspirational notes

All cards, pictures, and notes can be sent to Melanie Morrow @ Division Office!
